

Peter Hendrickson-Direct Exam/Mr. Lane

1 MR. LANE: I beg your pardon?

2 THE COURT: That would indeed shorten the 3 proofs.

4 Will the government stipulate that people
5 received -- maybe what we should do, instead of do 6 it on the fly, have counsel have an opportunity to 7 work out a stipulation and present that to the jury,
8 okay?

9 I'm concerned that we're going to be
10 into -- with the admission of these exhibits, 11 putting clearly hearsay exhibits in front of the 12 jury for an improper purpose.

13 I've instructed the jury -- I've tried to 14 instruct the jury on the proper purpose for which 15 they can consider it, but the more exhibits we put 16 in, the more cumulative they are.
