General Instructions

Future developments. For the latest information about developments related to Form 4852, such as legislation enacted since this publication, visit www.irs.gov/form4852. If you received Form 4852 earlier as a substitute for Forms W-2 or 1099-R and you have not yet completed it, you or your representative should obtain a copy of the correct Form W-2 or 1099-R from the employer or payer named on Form W-2 or 1099-R. If you are an employer or payer, you should also obtain a copy of Form 4852 or attach this form to the back of your Form W-2 or 1099-R before distributing forms or schedules. You should always attempt to obtain Form W-2, Form W-2e, or Form 1099-R from your employer or payer before contacting the IRS. If you do not receive the missing or corrected form from your employer or payer by the end of February, you may call the IRS at 800-829-1040 for assistance. You must include your name and address (including ZIP code), phone number, how you were notified, and address of employment. You must also provide your employer's or payer's name, address (including ZIP code), and routing number. The IRS will contact your employer or payer and request the missing form. The IRS also will send you a Form 4852 if you do not receive the missing form in sufficient time to file your return. However, you may use the Form 4852 that you receive.

If you received an incorrect Form W-2 or 1099-R, you should always attempt to obtain the correct form from the employer or payer before filing your return. Note: Retain a copy of Form 4852 for your records. It helps protect your social security benefits. Keep a copy of Form 4852 until you begin receiving social security benefits. Just in case there is a question about your work record, contact Social Security at least a year after September 30 following the date you began receiving benefits. You may use your Social Security online account to verify wages reported by your employer. Please visit www.SSA.gov/nyaccount. Or, you may contact your local SSA office to verify wages reported by your employer. Will I need to amend my return? If you receive a Form W-2, Form W-2e, or Form 1099-R after you have filed your return, you should file an amended return if you are required to file an amended return by filing Form 1040X, Amended U.S. Individual Income Tax Return. You are responsible for filing your local or state return with the correct information regardless of whether you receive a Form W-2, or Form 1099-R and whether you receive any wages or any other received is correct. Penalties. The IRS will challenge the accuracy of individuals who attempt to avoid or evade their federal tax liability by using Form 4852 in a manner other than as prescribed. Potential penalties for the improper use of Form 4852 include:
